Message from Vice President, Curtis A. Reynolds

During the past few months, there have been several notable safety improvement projects on campus. Both the Newell and Northeast gateways provide a safe and welcoming portal onto UF's campus. It is truly exciting to witness the continuing construction progress which will not only enhance UF's campus but also improve safety for all who visit campus.

I'd also like to remind you to nominate and acknowledge your fellow colleagues for an Elite Gator Award. These awards were created to celebrate those that have gone above and beyond to display the Business Affairs mission of service, sustainability, and safety across the campus community.

Thank you for reading and staying up to date across Business Affairs. Go Gators!

Want to stay informed about the latest construction news on campus?

Visit campusclosures.ufl.edu, a site created as a resource to inform our campus community of current construction impacts on roadways, sidewalks, parking, and building entrances. We encourage you to utilize the site and subscribe to receive email notifications for new closures.

New Leadership

Director of Physical security Joe Carriker, CPP

"I am excited to work with all departments to improve the safety and security in the UF learning environment for students to achieve success" said Carriker.

Carriker brings over eighteen years of combined law enforcement/security experience and over thirteen years of physical security management experience to UF.

Cydney McGlothlin is always looking for ways to express her creativity. What you may not know about Cydney is her love for quilting. Growing up, Cydney watched her grandmother quilt and in recent years has used quilting as a hobby and creative outlet. She explains that the type of quilting she does is modern quilting, which involves the use of bold colors, prints, and graphics.

What sparked her enjoyment for quilting is her passion to learn, which also translates to her role at UF.

“One of my favorite parts of my job is learning from researchers, faculty, staff, and students about what makes them passionate and working towards how we can create the space that allows them to take it to the next step. We are always thinking about how we can make the best impression for everybody who comes to campus. Our campus must reflect our Top 5 ranking.”

Congratulations are due to UFPD Police Communications Operators Victoria Hunt, Vianka Ordonez, and Katherine De Armas for completing the Public Safety Telecommunications (PST) Training Program and passing the state certification test. The PST Program is comprised of a 232 total contact hours course along with 12 student performance standards required by the Department of Education.

Their commitment is in keeping with the highest standards of the Department of Education and the University of Florida Police Department Communications Section.

Virtual Permits

“Modernizing the parking permit process provides an opportunity to enhance the customer experience, and at the same time, creates a more environmentally friendly and economically sustainable model for our services,” said Eddie Daniels, assistant vice president for business services.

Emergency Planning Cohort

Does your department have an emergency plan?

If so, when was it last updated or exercised?

UF Department of Emergency Management hosts an annual planning cohort, limited to 5-10 colleges and departments. Participants will learn and apply the skills to develop, exercise, and maintain an emergency plan based on university templates. The cohort begins each January.

If you have any questions or would like to enroll, please contact emergencymanagement@ufl.edu.

Did you know Florida Fresh has two meal plan options for faculty and staff?

The Orange Plan costs $200 and includes $25 Faculty/Staff flex and 25 meal swipes. Flex bucks can be used to purchase meals from all dining locations on campus. Meal swipes can be used at select locations on campus.

The Blue Plan costs $225 and includes $275 Faculty/Staff Flex to purchase a meal from all dining locations on campus.

Congratulations on Retirement
